

Island Skies

HANNAH BLACKMORE

4 - 14 FEBRUARY 2022. SIDESPACE GALLERY. SALAMANCA ARTS CENTRE. HOBART TASMANIA

Island Skies: A collection of landscape and seascape paintings, inspired by the colours and moods of Tasmania.

Island Skies is a celebration of the wide variety of skies we see here in Tasmania. While a clear blue sky is joyful to see, a moody sky holds more interest to me. My favourite sky is a broody one, the moment before a storm when the clouds gather up and prepare to burst. I also love that moment after the storm has passed and a shaft of light breaks through the clouds onto the sand, sea, or land below.

"The sky, a perfect empty canvas, offers clouds nonetheless. They shift and drift and beg interpretation... such is the nature of art."
Jeb Dickerson

IG: @hannahblackmoreartist

FB: Hannah Blackmore Artist

HANNAH BLACKMORE

Hannah Blackmore is a Fine Art painter based in Hobart, Tasmania. Creating landscapes and seascapes, her work allows her to continually explore new places and a variety of painting techniques, inviting the viewer to experience nature in different ways.

Hannah was born in Jersey in the Channel Islands, UK, and has made art all her life. Working in acrylic, her work has significantly evolved over the years since completing a Fine Art degree.

Hannah seeks inspiration from the environment around her, with coastal colours and light being a focal point. As a resident artist of Salamanca Arts Centre, Hannah is an established member of the arts community in Hobart. She is also passionate about sharing business skills with other artists through her membership site - This Business of Art.

thisbusinessofart.com

IG: @thisbusinessof.art